To understand and combat congestion is critical to the development of our cities. The INRIX Global Traffic Scorecard provides a data-rich evaluation of urban travel, traffic health and vibrancy across five continents. The visualization below includes the INRIX ranking of 100 major cities analyzed out of the 1,860 ranked overall. These cities are ranked by the number of peak hours the average commuter spent in congestion in 2017.

For the complete Global INRIX 2017 Traffic Scorecard, visit inrix.com/scorecard